March 9, 1955

Dear Milt:

First, let me apologize most humbly for the long delay in writing you. It was some time after the holidays before I got into Washington and somehow, the pressure of things caused me to lay aside matters which should have been taken care of. I hope that you will understand.

The book ends which you sent me at Christmas are outstanding in every way. They are temporarily in my present office awaiting the move to the new building about the first of May, at which time I shall use them there to great advantage. They have been especially admired by the people who are furnishing the building. The encyclopedia, too, is truly a fine gift all by itself and has been referred to many times, not only by my own office but by others in the building who have discovered that I have it.

This long interim period is no indication that the gifts were not truly appreciated and I trust that you do understand.

My warmest appreciation and kindest regards.

Sincerely,

B:a

I have never seen such a clever combination as the desk set and radio which you sent for Christmas.
Not only is it decorative but very functional and I shall certainly put it to good use in the office which I have at home in Seattle. At the present time, some of my staff are interested in knowing where this set can be ordered and I will appreciate your writing my

CHRISTMAS 1954

In sending you the Greetings and Good Wishes of the General Executive Council of the Transport and General Workers Union, I do so with the earnest hope that 1955 will bring the greatest possible measure of happiness everywhere.

It is the earnest desire of all men of goodwill that we strive by every means within our power to reach that common understanding that will enable the peoples of all lands to live in peace and security.

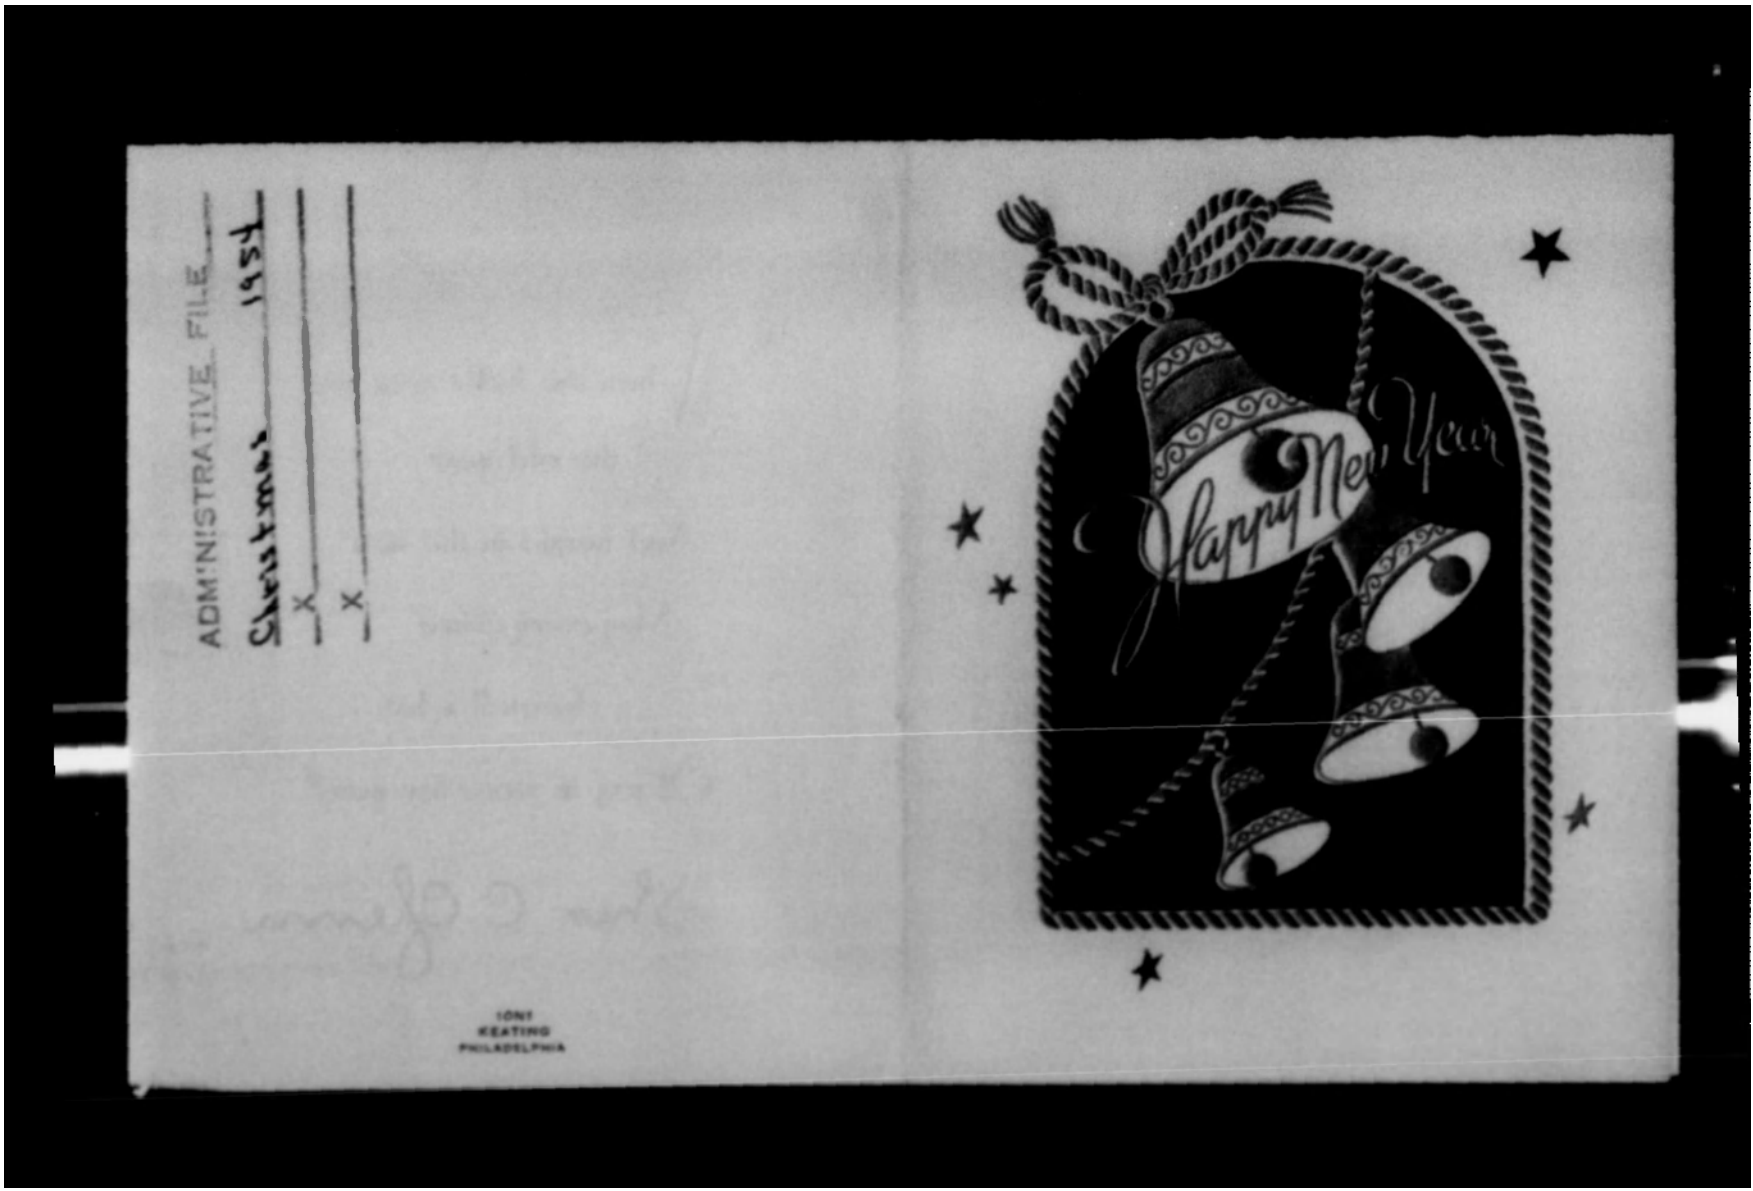

Nothing is of greater importance, nothing must stand in the way of finding the solution to all those problems which are inherent in establishing social security with rising standards of life the world over.

What a very seasonal seasonal contrivance you sent us for Christmas! However, without in any way diminishing our appreciation, I would like to say to you fellows that it is not at all necessary for you to send holiday remembrances and I find myself a somewhat at a loss for expression.

This bird and cage will surely be a conversation piece in our home and I marvel at the song which is produced by this very aesthetically looking little bird. And, as one of our friends immediately said, "You don't even have to clean the cage".

Dear Dave:

Once each year we pause to join with each other in the belief that Christmas has more than a sentimental meaning. Once each year and for one day at least a kindlier spirit and friendlier attitude prevail. The feeling of brotherhood is real, and good-will towards all opens our hearts freely.

Memorializing the birth of a person we celebrate the dawn of the new world. So at this Nativity season of 1954 we can with new meaning and sincerity say Mele Kalikimaka and a Hauoli Makahiki Hou - in plain American: Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
